Tips for Creating and Writing a Grant Proposal

Write a Strong Narrative

- By using the following plan of action—accurately describing what you’ll do; how you’ll do it; Where you’ll do it; and Who’s going to do what—will lead to success.
- Tip: Include specific details and examples.
- Tip: Make your idea look like a sure winner. The clarity of this section and adding compelling details will persuade the grant reader to fund your idea.

Develop and Explain Your Budget

- Outline what funds you will need for everything you want to do. Use the budget narrative to clearly explain all the items listed to show that every cent is required to guarantee success.
- Tip: Itemize the expenses in an easy-to-read format.
- Tip: Write the narrative clearly so every budget item is explained.

Tell Who Will Be Part of the Program

- Include a personnel page to show what staff members will be part of the program and what each person will do.
- Tip: Cite each person’s qualifications and how they will contribute to making the program a success.

Describe Your Evaluation Plan

- Tell what you will measure and how you will measure it. Make it clear to the grant committee how the project will achieve its goals.
- Tip: Include clear benchmarks that will be used to evaluate success.
- Tip: Consider adding details about hiring outside evaluators to show that you are serious about executing your plan if you receive the grant.
